

ARB / tf2 / Shared Funder Exhibit Brief

3-minute counsel snapshot from uploaded transaction and relation files

Three-minute conclusion: The uploaded files already support an authenticated transaction exhibit showing that ARB is not an isolated market participant. The records tie the ARB-linked Safe to the target market resolution and payout chain, show direct two-way asset transfers between ARB and tf2 before the dispute window, and show a large shared-funder cluster sending USDCE to multiple investigation-relevant YES-side or UMA-related wallets. This is strong conflict and discovery evidence because it connects financial exposure, resolution activity, redemption activity, and relationship/funding signals in one compact record.

1. Relationship map

5. How to use this with counsel

- Treat the ARB market path as exhibit-grade: ARB appears in the 400,000 YES buy, the final YES resolution path, and the post-resolution redemption flow.
- Treat ARB and tf2 as an authenticated relationship exhibit: the file shows 11 direct transfer rows in both directions before the dispute window.
- Treat the 0xc417 shared funder cluster as a funding-network exhibit: the file shows 65 USDCE transfers totaling more than 14.1 million USDCE to relevant wallets.
- Use the combined record to request discovery into wallet control, account ownership, private communications, Polymarket review records, UMA proposal/vote relationships, and shared funding arrangements.

Important limit: The records prove transactions and address relationships. They do not, by themselves, prove common ownership, an agreement, or intent. Those are the discovery targets. This wording protects the packet while keeping the conflict theory strong.

6. Source files used
